REPORTS OF AXIS DEMANDS ON GREECE ARE UNCONFIRMED

Drive to East Appears Aimed at British-Guaranteed Nation as Diplomatic Sources Claim Heavy Italian-German Pressure on Capital for Extensive Territorial, Governmental and Economic Concessions; Authoritative Dispatches From Berlin Flatly Contradict Such Overtures Made

ABDICATION OF KING GEORGE, RESIGNATION OF METAXAS AND CHANGE IN SET-UP INVOLVED

Cairo—Diplomatic sources report Axis demands on Greece for governmental and economic concessions. Athens—Greek authorities term reports "unworthy of comment" and Berlin sources deny demands. Berlin—Nazis report destruction of water works in yesterday's raids on London and for first time admit no loss of British planes. Vichy—Formal charges brought against French war leaders. London—British capital has quiet night as R. A. F. bombs points in Germany, despite bad weather.

Athens, Oct. 19.—(P)—Official Greek circles today described as "rumors unworthy of comment," reports in Cairo of Axis power demands on Greece. Diplomatic circles professed to find no evidence of increased tension in Axis-Greek relations. The Greek position generally continued to be one of alert preparedness.

Cairo, Egypt, Oct. 19.—The Axis drive to the east appeared aimed directly at British-guaranteed Greece today as diplomatic circles reported heavy Italian-German pressure on Athens for extensive territorial, governmental and economic concessions.

Greek diplomatic sources in Cairo said they had learned from Athens that the Axis powers were demanding cessions of Greek territory to Italy and Bulgaria, reorganization of her government, severance of trade relations with Britain and the right to use certain Greek air bases.

(Informed sources in Berlin flatly denied that any such demands had been made, commenting, however, that so long as Greece holds a British guarantee, she must be regarded as a friend of Britain. Diplomatic sources in Rome regarded the Cairo reports as "at least premature," but the often authoritative Fascist weekly, Relazioni Internazionali, hinted demands on Greece and also on Turkey might be imminent.)

Specifically, the Cairo sources said the Axis demands called for: 1. Immediate severance of economic relations with Great Britain. 2. Cession to Italy of a strip of territory adjacent to the south. (Turn to Page Nine)

MANY G. O. P. RALLIES IN STATE NEXT WEEK

Harrisburg, Oct. 19.—(P)—Wendell L. Willkie's return visit will highlight Republican campaign activities in Pennsylvania next week. The presidential nominee will visit the Erie and Sharon section on Thursday, appearing in Scranton and Wilkes-Barre the following day.

Governor James will address a rally at Wellsboro Thursday night. Colonel Theodore Roosevelt of New York, campaigning throughout the state all week, will make a major address at Wilkes-Barre Monday night and at Greensburg Wednesday.

U. S. Senator-elect Ralph O. Brewster will address a Fayette county rally at Uniontown Wednesday night. The third-term issue will be debated at Hershey Monday night by Ernest Angell, a former administrator of the securities exchange commission, and U. S. Senator Allen J. Ellender, Louisiana Democrat.

Farm Horses Outpull 22 Husky Cattlemen In Simulated Tug-of-War in Dairy Show Test

Harrisburg, Oct. 19.—(P)—Two good farm horses can pull more weight than 22 husky cattlemen, and 22 husky cattlemen can pull more weight than 22 high school football players. That was demonstrated in a simulated tug-of-war at the National Dairy Show last night, when manpower vainly tried to match the record established by a team of horses that dragged a 24-ton load 25 feet.

The gridiron warriors, from nearby Steelton, strained against

DEBATE ISSUE COMES UP AGAIN IN BALTIMORE

Republican Nominee, Whose Path May Cross That of President Roosevelt In Maryland October 30, Urged to Renew Challenge

WILLKIE STUMPS WEST

Baltimore, Oct. 19.—(P)—Wendell L. Willkie, whose path might cross that of President Roosevelt here Oct. 30, was urged today to challenge the president again to debate the campaign issues.

The question of a debate was raised by Maryland Republican leaders after it developed yesterday that their presidential nominee and President Roosevelt might speak here the same night.

The Willkie-McNary crusaders sent this wire to Willkie: "We suggest you renew your challenge to debate the issues of the same platform since this could so easily be arranged. Roosevelt refusal naturally would strengthen your Baltimore vote."

Willkie will speak in the spacious fifth Regiment armory, but the Democrats have obtained no place yet for the president, although the municipal stadium is available.

Republicans suggested both might speak at the same place and Paul Robertson, Republican city chairman, asserted: "Nobody, not even the smoothest of new deal soothsayers, would dare deny that the appearance of Mr. Roosevelt here is a tactic acceptance of Mr. Willkie's challenge to debate the issues. Mr. Roosevelt might put a city block or two between them, but they would be debating, nevertheless."

JOHNSON AND DOWNEY HEARD OVER RADIO

Washington, Oct. 19.—(P)—Senator Hiram Johnson of California, Republican who backed President Roosevelt in 1932, last night gave his support to the presidential candidacy of Wendell L. Willkie, in a speech declaring that the Republican nominee was "eternally right" on the third term issue.

He spoke on the radio, and immediately afterwards, Senator Sheridan Downey, his Democratic colleague broadcast from Los Angeles. Downey said that he had a "traditional sentiment" against a third term but that "as between a liberal administration headed by Roosevelt for a third term, and a conservative rule under Willkie, I must support the liberal Roosevelt ticket."

The same article said some Bulgarian circles were "extremely agitated" over the discovery that Rendel, traveling incognito, recently had visited Bucharest in an attempt to arrange for passage of British troops through Rumania.

Presumably this was before the German troops arrived. Meanwhile, Axis influence extended over Rumania. The Italian flag flew for the first time over a Danube ship as a new "Italian Danubian Navigation Society" purchased a large river barge and put it in operation.

The government was asked to turn over the headquarters of the club Agriolo, opposite the royal palace, one of the most elite private clubs in the country, as a casino for German officers.

The food situation became complicated, as housewives reported they were suddenly unable to obtain a single ounce of butter in the city. Fines totaling more than $10,000 were imposed on 215 motion picture exhibitors.

LONDON PAPER CLAIMS 200,000 NAZIS KILLED

London, Oct. 19.—(P)—The Daily Sketch, quoting "well informed neutral sources," said today "it is now estimated that German troop casualties resulting from R.A.F. raids total 200,000 men."

The sketch said its sources estimated that the recent bombardment of the German-held French port of Cherbourg had cost the Nazis casualties of 40,000 men.

"It is known," the paper added, "that this bombardment, coming on top of fierce attacks by the R.A.F. struck a serious blow to the morale of German troops."

EPISCOPALIAN S DISCUSS MANY VITAL QUESTIONS

Fifty-Third Triennial Convention, Concluding the Work Five Days Ahead Of Schedule, Carries Debates Into Final Sessions

DIVORCES INVOLVED

Kansas City, Oct. 19.—(P)—The 53rd triennial Protestant Episcopal convention, concluding its work today—five days ahead of schedule—carried its debates on controversial, precedent-shattering proposals into its final sessions.

Items awaiting final action by the house of deputies include a proposal to liberalize the church's stringent marriage and divorce laws; the three-year budget, including for the first time a $300,000 appropriation to aid war-weakened British missions; a proposal to require resignations of bishops on becoming 72 years old, and one to require young clerics to refrain from marriage for two years after being ordained.

All have passed the house of bishops. Other innovations—some debated for as long as 24 years—already have received final approval of the precedent-breaking conference.

These included full membership in the Federal Council of Churches, affiliation with the World Council of Churches, and revision of the hymnal, in use for 24 years.

Marriage and divorce presented the most important domestic issue. After prolonged discussion the (Turn to Page Nine)

SMITH ON STUMP

New York, Oct. 19.—(P)—Former Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York, who "took a walk" from the Democratic party in 1936, will make four speeches for Willkie, he announced yesterday. Smith, the Democratic presidential nominee in 1928, will speak first in Brooklyn next Wednesday. His other addresses will be in Chicago, October 26; Philadelphia, October 29, and Boston, October 31.

ROBBER STAGES $10,000 BLUFF

Chicago, Oct. 19.—(P)—Preliminary investigation indicated today that the robber who threatened to blow up the South Chicago Savings Bank with a vial of colorless liquid apparently had worked a $10,000 bluff.

The robber, a slender little man, showed a note and a bottle of the liquid through the teller's grill yesterday. Harold Broberg, the teller, read:

"There is enough in this bottle to blow this building up. I've got another in my hand. Give me 10 thousand dollars or I'll drop this one. You'll go up, too. Keep your hands where I can see them. No funny business. Hurry up."

POUNDING OF LONDON SUBSIDES

The Capital, Digging In For a Winter of Bombing, Credits a Measure of Relief During Night to England's Autumnal Ally—Coastal Fog and Inland Cloud Blanket; Firing Intermittent and Lighter Than Usual

BERLIN CLAIMS MUCH DAMAGE IS INFLICTED

London, Oct. 19.—(P)—London's defenders worked today to lessen the discomforts of life for millions of families who have been spending their nights and much of their days in air raid shelters with a program to feed them there, too.

Dr. J. J. Mallon, placed in charge of the feeding plan, said the first step would be to organize and stock canteens so that Londoners forced to spend an increasing amount of their time in subways and basements could buy morning and evening meals there.

The capital, digging in for a winter of bombing, credited a measure of relief last night to England's autumnal ally—coastal fog and an inland cloud blanket.

A short burst of anti-aircraft fire at daybreak wound up the big city's 42nd night of attack, which observers termed intermittent and definitely lighter than usual.

The Air Ministry reported that the Royal Air Force flew through bad weather last night in bombing attacks on shipyards, factories and railway stations in Germany.

(German reports said bombers took off for England in "uninterrupted succession" throughout the night and heavily attacked London and industrial centers.)

The planes which came over during the night were reported attacking singly or in small groups, with hails longer and often than usual between raids.

Three Royal Air Force members and a member of the R.A.F. women's auxiliary were among six killed in one section of the city. In another four air raid wardens were injured seriously when a bomb hit their station. An undetermined number of persons were buried by a bomb which smashed a tavern. Five bodies and seven injured were removed from another tavern.

An elementary school, a workman's club, shops and homes were wrecked.

SERIOUS CHARGE FILED AGAINST FRENCH LEADERS

Vichy, France, Oct. 19.—(P)—The Vichy government brought formal charges today against Premier Leon Blum, former Minister of the Interior Georges Mandel in the supreme court's "war guilt" trials at Riom.

Blum was charged with having betrayed his duties while prime minister, Reynaud with embezzlement of public funds, and Mandel with attacking the security of the state and speculation in national currency.

Others charged, like Blum, with betraying their duties were former Premier Daladier, former Air Minister (Turn to Page Nine)

COUPLE CELEBRATES 73RD ANNIVERSARY

Martinsburg, Oct. 19.—(P)—The Rev. and Mrs. James A. Sell, believed by friends to be the oldest married couple in Pennsylvania, today celebrated their 73rd wedding anniversary.

The 95-year-old Mr. Sell has been minister of the Church of the Brethren for 74 years and still preaches occasionally. His wife is 94. Both enjoy comparatively good health.

The couple has three sons, 23 grandchildren and 24 great-grandchildren.

KISTLER'S TALK Mrs. Roosevelt Has 'No Idea' Regarding Result Of Campaign IS A CHALLENGE TO YOUNG FOLKS

President of Beaver College Urges Youths to Break Down Caste System That Holds College Trained People to be Superior

NEXT RALLY IN ERIE

Dr. Raymond M. Kistler, president of Beaver College, Jenkintown, in an address before the Youth of Erie Presbytery, meeting at the First Presbyterian church here last evening, declared the philosophy of defeatism and gloom which seems fashionable for too many contemporary counselors of youth to dispense.

He vigorously declared: "This world of ours is not hanging over the brink of any chasm; America is not headed for the discard, and young people of today are not a 'lost generation.' What Americans need is faith in themselves, faith in their fellow men; faith in their institutions; faith in this world of ours, and living faith a God who is a Loving Father."

Dr. Kistler challenged today's youth to break down the caste system which seems to be building up in America which holds the man or woman with a college degree or a white collar job to be superior to those who get their hands dirty in doing the world's work.

Concerning choice of life work Dr. Kistler suggested that: "The thing you would like to do is nine chances out of ten the thing you should do."

DEATH OF CORRY MAN UNSOLVED

Claremore, Okla., Oct. 19.—(P)—Steadfastly clinging to pleas of innocence, a Claremore farmer and his son were detained today while officers investigated the slaying of Clair L. Barnes, Long Beach, Calif., truck driver.

Barnes' body was found Thursday in a coal pit near Chelsea and a few hours later officers arrested the farmer and his son for questioning.

Sheriff Tom Dean asserted a cedar chest similar to one which was in Barnes' car when he left Corry, Pa., two weeks ago had been found in the farmer's home. The latter contended he found the chest on a roadside.

Army Completes New Elaborate Arrangements for Identifying Experienced Draftees So They May Be Used in Military Tasks at Which They Will Be Most Productive After Being Put Through Reception Center

WILL BE TRAINED IN CAMPS NEAR HOMES

Washington, Oct. 19.—(P)—The army has completed new elaborate arrangements for identifying skilled draftees so they may be used in the military tasks at which they will be most productive.

Officials said today that the new system would operate "more effectively" than the classification procedure of World War years. Ready now, it will first be applied to conscript soldiers when the initial contingent of 30,000 is called up November 18.

Essentially, its purpose is to make sure that when the army needs automobile mechanics, electricians or stenographers, commanders will know where among

REGISTRATIONS ARE STILL ACCEPTABLE
Harrisburg, Oct. 19.—(P)—Governor James today telegraphed all local draft boards of Pennsylvania to accept the registration for military service of all persons within the eligible age limits until the national lottery is held in Washington. The governor transmitted to the local boards a telegram he received from the National Selective Service headquarters, authorizing the registration of any persons who failed to enroll on Registration Day Wednesday.

the thousands of trainees to find them. In all, there are about 300 specialized military tasks.

Discussing other plans for induction of trainees, officials said they would be kept as close to home as possible. This, it was explained, will save money and help make the men happier. "Near home" may be anywhere in a corps area, although in some instances as the necessities of army organization require, men undoubtedly will be shifted from one corps area to another.

THREE KILLED WHEN AUTO STRIKES POLE

Pittsburgh, Oct. 19.—(P)—Three persons were killed today when their automobile struck an iron pole and overturned.

The victims were Mrs. Leo Cooper, 21, Cincinnati; Henry Elmer, 25, and Russell Bell, 28, both of Pittsburgh. Mrs. Cooper's sister, Mary Wasco, 24, Pittsburgh, was injured.

Police said the car in which the four were riding failed to make a curve, causing Bell to apparently lose control of the machine.

The mishap occurred a few hours after Mrs. Cooper, visiting at the home of her parents, bid good-bye to her husband as he left by train for Cincinnati to prepare an apartment. The Coopers recently moved to the Ohio city.

Winter Sweeps Eastern Seaboard Breaking Season Records and Bringing Snow Flurries

By the Associated Press
Winter swept the eastern seaboard today, equaling and breaking seasonal temperature records and bringing snow flurries, while the east coast experienced a heat wave.

A balance at football games in Boston and New York last night was off by the weather, and overnight the mercury fell to a low of 10 degrees on Mt. Washington in New Hampshire.

Snow fell in Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire, western Massachusetts and northern New Jersey.

The heat wave was expected to break tomorrow, while in the east some moderation was predicted for today. (Turn to Page Nine)

LOCAL COMPANY GOING TO CAMP FIRST OF YEAR

Members of the 28th Division Pennsylvania National Guard, which includes the 112th Infantry, of which Warren's Company I is a part, will be called for a year's active duty and training shortly after January 1st, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Washington today.

The local company will go to Indiantown Gap for its training period, according to the dispatch.

The information stated that approximately 130,000 national guardsmen will be mobilized in the period from January 3 to 19 and about February 3. The 28th Division is listed in the former group.

Comprising eight divisions and 84 regiments and other units, the guardsmen will be the last of such groups called out for a year's active duty and training.

Already in uniform or under mobilization orders are 132,000 other national guard officers and men.

The War Department said the dates selected for induction of the final groups were tentative, and that "no unit of the national guard will be ordered into the federal service until proper housing is ready and adequate hospital facilities are available."

The units to be called up January 3-19 totaled approximately 126,000 officers and men, leaving about 4,000 to be inducted about February 3.

Dealing with the romance between a daring Hollywood stunt-flier and an imperious screen star, RKO Radio's "I'm Still Alive" features Kent Taylor and Linda Hayes in what is said to be an unusually exciting picture.

Several spectacular stunts, with behind-the-scenes glimpses of how they are made, add to the interest of the offering, which discloses for the first time on the screen the amazing lives of the men who furnish the thrills for motion pictures. Howard da Silva and Ralph Morgan have important roles in the production, which was directed by Irving Reis.

THE ROAD TO SHANI LUN

YESTERDAY: Just after escaping from Temu Darin and Sherlock, who are taking her to the Prince of Shani Lun, who has, he believes, bought her in marriage, Lynn Britton goes to a dance on a Chinese river boat at Lanfou with her rescuer. But into the crowd of American tourists walks Temu himself, and Lynn, although she refuses to resume her journey, can't deny the fact that she would like to be with Temu longer.

Chapter 20 Pirates

WELL after midnight a pair of Chinese musicians came aboard. They were giving their usual performance before the guests seated in the saloon, when suddenly, the English captain rushed in from the afterdeck, his face ashen gray.

"We've been boarded by river pirates!" he announced. "The first time such a thing has happened to my boat! Take it easy." Though he wasn't taking it with ease himself.

Lynn glanced around hastily for the tour conductor. He looked much too sick to be suspected of having staged a false holdup. Others of the guests from Lanfou also glanced at him with covert suspicion. He had probably been free with remarks about his temptations. She learned afterward that he had sowed them gloomily all up and down the river gorge.

Temu, sitting between Peggy and Mrs. Wallace, stiffened and watched the doorway through which the captain had come.

"Keep your seats," advised Mr. Wallace, "and give them readily what money and jewelry you have on your persons. Do not resist. It is the quickest way to get rid of them."

Lynn put a hand to the charm box at her throat. Temu had turned in time to see the gesture. He made a motion for her to conceal the trinket in the breast of her gown. She did so.

A shuffling could be heard outside, and a moment later a tall Chinese with a straggly beard stood in the doorway. He wore a long, curved knife in his belt and carried two ugly pistols in his hands, ancient but dangerous weapons. The other doorways were immediately manned.

A pair of ugly ruffians with no weapons except the murderous knives in their belts appeared. One of them, a dwarf with a monstrous head and a tall, spare fellow with long, yellow, tusk-like upper teeth led the way as they made the rounds collecting money and jewelry and placing the contributions methodically in red paper envelopes which they dropped into a woven reed sack.

Sam Telford, sitting between Lynn and his wife, handed over his plump wallet with the remark: "We may have bank bands in America, but, thank heaven, we don't have river pirates."

The man pointed to a signet ring of no particular value on one of Sam's fingers. The American showed that he could not remove the circlet. It seemed that it had not been taken off in years. The man drew his knife from his belt. Sam turned pale, made a tug at the ring, and somehow, it came off.

"The power of mind over matter," he said afterwards, "I believe my will-power was so great that it actually shrank the bone."

"Or expanded the metal," suggested someone.

The Chinese replaced his knife and took the ring. The rest of the party had their trinkets waiting for him. When the two had finished and stepped out, one of the ladies who might have fainted but waited to see if something more exciting would happen, remarked: "Really, they were quite gentlemanly."

Same gave her a disgusted look.

"They're not through with us yet," said Mr. Wallace in a low tone.

Worse to Come

HE was right. One of the guards of the door came forward and picked out those guests that belonged to the town, including Lynn and Temu Darin.

"I don't like this," muttered the Belgian doctor.

They were marched out on the deck and down the gang-plank to the docks where a sedan chair waited for each, manned by frightened coolies of the town. The Wallaces and Lynn were sent off first.

"May I go with them?" Temu asked, and was gruffly refused.

Lynn looked back. The Belgian doctor and his wife were being ordered into chairs. She watched until she was whisked around a corner. It was then she discovered she had been separated from the Wallaces. She called sharply, but instead of halting, the men broke into the swinging coolie not that is the perfection of rhythmic motion by the human body at labor. Their own dim lanterns were the only lights in the dark and narrow street that ran between the walls of mud-brick which lined the river-bank.

Lynn reached forward fumbling at the door of the chair when suddenly, out of the blackness of a dark cavern, swarmed a band of yet blacker figures wearing slitted hoods and carrying flaming torches above their heads.

At a sharp command her carriers stopped in terror and lowered the chair. Someone opened the door and moved aside, motioning for Lynn to come out. Instead, she crouched back in the slight protection the chair offered. An instant later the figure appeared at the door.

"Missie you come with me." She recognized the voice, that of Chan, Temu Darin's head coolie. Lynn stepped out joyfully. She had been thinking that surely Temu would do something about this outrage.

"No talk," Chan warned, and turning, gave sharp orders to the bearers who wheeled and raced away.

Forming a guard around Lynn, Chan's men went down the street several hundred yards, turned a corner or two, and stopped before the entrance to one of the watchtowers. The attendants disappeared and Chan led Lynn into a storeroom filled with great stacks of furs and dried hides. He unlocked another door, passed her into a dungeonlike enclosure piled high with sweet lumber, then entered another expansive storeroom fragrant with bales of tea. Finally they came to a living apartment lighted by electricity and furnished with the comforts of civilization.

There was a kitchen, a bath, a bedroom, a living room, all windowless and ventilated from the mysterious surrounding enclosure. Lynn heard an odd, musical gurgling coming from below the floor.

"This building is over the river," she said aloud. Chan bowed himself into the kitchen. The girl looked about the handsomely furnished room. On the blackwood table lay a small revolver, and beside it, a book of poetry, face downward. Lynn picked up the book.

"With much love from Amy," was written on the flyleaf. She read a poem by one Ali Ben Mahmoud, Althampy, on the page at which the book had been left open.

Lynn looked again at the revolver and picked it up. It was heavy for its size and loaded. She laid the weapon down carefully, thoughtfully, and started at a slight sound. Temu Darin had appeared at her side. He wore a greatcoat over his evening clothes.

As she stared at him the lights went out. She caught at him instinctively and his hands closed over her fingers.

"Revolutionists must have captured the German electric-light plant," he said in a sober tone. "We are threatened by another 'Huei-Huei' rebellion, indeed this time by communist agitators."

They listened as a bombardment began somewhere in the distance. Lynn's fingers tensed in his grip.

"Mr. Wallace told me the story of the last Mohammedan uprising," she said in a hushed voice. "The dead were numbered by the millions. Men, women, and children were penned and burned alive."

"It won't be that bad this time," he assured her in an effort to quiet her horror. Chan brought in candles. Temu started to lift the wrap from Lynn's shoulders. She turned her head and looked up into his face.

"Aren't the streets safe enough for you to send me to the Wallace's?"

He finished taking off her wrap. "What do you think this is, Tara Lynn?"

The girl's hand went to her throat in sudden fright. "You wouldn't dare keep me."

His eyes brightened sardonically. "Didn't I capture you?"

"Capture? In a flash, she sensed anew the ruthlessness of his determination. He might tease and banter in words, but in action—her eyes darted to the gun on the table. As she sprang for the weapon he caught and held her away.

"No, you don't," he laughed. But she surprised him by struggling savagely, sleek and limber as a cat. She knew he feared to be rough with her or bruise her flesh. Was she not the Prince's treasure and he but an emissary sent to deliver her safe in Shani Lun. In the scuffle a chair fell over. Chan rushed in.

"Get out!" shouted Temu, and the boy obeyed.

Finding her fierce energy would not last against his steady masculine resistance Lynn took to the weapons of teeth and nails. She drew blood with her fingernail along the line of his chin, bit his hand that caught one of her wrists, and kicked his ankles.

"You little devil!" he said. He would have picked her up and carried her to the divan but she managed to squirm free of his clasp and dart for the weapon again.

He was after her in a flash. The table went over and the pistol crashed to the floor. This time he secured both her wrists in his iron clasp and kept them there. Showing her into a low chair he set on a stool in front of her holding her knees and feet between his. She might as well have been in a straight-jacket. Lynn relaxed from sheer helplessness.

His eyes held hers a moment before he spoke, his breathing slightly labored. "You're a strong girl."

"I wish I were strong enough to kill you," she cried.

Studying her face a moment longer, he rose and released her. "I'm sorry, Tara Lynn, but I do keep you safe." He walked over and picked up the pistol and unloading it, thrust the weapon into his pocket before he returned to stand in front of her.

REPUBLICAN

Whatever arguments and excuses the Administration supporters advance for their assault on the Third Term tradition will not bear serious examination. It is argued, for example, that Mr. Roosevelt's two terms in office have provided him with an experience that Mr. Willkie does not possess. Yet when this statement is examined it appears that this argument would be even better for a fourth term, or better still for a fifth or a life term. A president's alleged indisposability, on that basis, would increase with each term. And the same argument could be made for every office-holder and for the holder of any position in business life. This argument tries to make of "experience" merely a matter of time.

Now the answer to all this is that what counts primarily in filling a man for any office is not mere LENGTH of his experience but his own CAPACITY for learning from experience. "Experience," says Huxley, "is not what happens to a man. It is what a man does with what happens to him." If time alone were the test of experience, then the White House would be wiser than its wisest occupant. The test of experience is the ability to learn, and Mr. Roosevelt, in certain respects for instance, in understanding of basic financial and economic questions—has shown a remarkable inability to learn. The experience of the last seven years has passed over him and left him no wiser.

It is worth noticing too that the "experience" argument has been applied, not only against Mr. Willkie, but against any other aspirant for the presidential office, even those closest to Roosevelt, himself. The third term candidate is, in effect, unwilling to admit that there is anyone, even in his own party, who is equipped to take over the reins of office. This is the colossal arrogance which is the raw material of dictatorship.

A further point needs to be clarified. There has been a deliberate attempt on the part of Mr. Roosevelt's supporters, and even on the part of Mr. Roosevelt, himself, to mislead the American people, by trying to imply that the vast amount of essential information that the President possesses about foreign affairs is gathered by him personally and that when he steps out of office he will take it with him. No implication could be more false. What the President can do personally in the way of gathering such information is trivial. It is funneled to him from the diplomatic corps, from the many divisions of the State, Commerce, War and Navy departments whose work it is to gather such information. Mr. Willkie would take over the same files, the same permanent under-secretariat and civil service, and could call upon the same men for their information.

The great bulk of the knowledge of foreign affairs of any administration is not the personal secret of one man, no matter how much one man might like the American people to believe that it is. This false argument is not only a dangerous exaltation of one man, but it is also a malicious libel upon the devoted civil servants, the permanent government employees who including those to schools and hospitals. But most "useful" of all "economies" are those whereby the government—under the guise of "economy"—paralyzes liberal laws which the legislature feared to tip. These "economies," which guarantee non-enforcement of regulations objectionable to the GOP and its "angels," have to do chiefly with utilities and labor.

Fearing public indignation, the legislature would not tinker with these popular Democratic measures. But Governor James accomplishes the same objectives while clamoring loudly of "savings."

This is the way Governor James "made good" his promised economy. Pennsylvania voters know that Candidate Willkie, the James admirer, will make good on his promises in the very same measure—that is why they will vote for President Roosevelt and the Democratic ticket in November.

IN THE MIDST OF DEATH—

Striving to reduce the pneumonia death rate, the state has added a new drug to its list of free medicines and began establishing additional pneumonia control stations, according to a dispatch from Harrisburg. Dr. John J. Shaw, secretary of health, explains the department's program is being expanded in an effort to send the death rate to as low as five per cent. State-aided control stations have been increased from 165, at the start of the season last year, to around 180, and another ten or twelve depots are being established in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Harrisburg, Allentown and other population centers. While Europe frantically plunges onward to newer and better means of killing people, American science, it is encouraging to note, has succeeded in cutting materially the death rate from pneumonia, considered most fatal of all germ diseases.

Thus, in the midst of death there is life, and the same human mind which has proved so clever at killing has proved that it has not forgotten also how to save. Sulfanilimide and its close chemical relatives sulfaphoxol and sulfapyridine, have made great inroads in the pneumonia death rate. This has been reported to the Inter-State Post-Graduate Medical Association of North America. Some places the rate in death rate has been as high as two-thirds. Dr. Shaw estimates approximately 4,000 lives were saved last year through the pneumonia control program in this state alone. He says the mortality rate, was cut in half under the average of the previous decade.

Is it useless to save a young man's life from pneumonia and then bomb him in his bed? Perhaps, in so simple an example, yes. But we must have faith that the knowledge of how to fight disease will still be serving man long after he has learned to get along without war.

WEEKLY SERMONETTE
HOPE-BUILDERS!
REV. STEPHEN R. SCHIEB
Salem Evangelical Church, Warren

Who in hope believed against hope. Romans 4:18
The alusion is to Abraham who, in the matter involved, had every reason against hope. The story reminds one of George Watts' "Hope" and Fraser's "The End of the Trail." With this difference, however, in "Hope" a lone star is left in the horizon as the hopeless woman plays on the last string of the harp of life to get the last sound before she makes the last fatal leap into oblivion. In "The End of the Trail" nothing but burning memory fills the face of the brideless and saddleless rider who, in his chase after life has lost his flag from his pole. How and who can retrieve people from such a hopeless Dead End? People say it is hope against hope that hope can be re-built in such lives and such world-situations. But then it takes an infinite lot to make human life unredemptable.
Among the close-at-hand Hope-Building agencies in our society there still remains the Home. Herbert Hoover spoke tremendously when some years ago he said that our world walks on the feet of little children. But their first school and first church-experiences are secured in their homes. It is to the heart that the mind turns when hope fades; and it is there that hope finds hope against hope. To contemplate home in which is to despair. The thousands of waking hours before we go to school or church, in our homes, so fixes our attitude-patterns that no teacher or minister can functionally alter them. As one writes, and as you read farther than these lines there come to mind albums of names who have graced our world and garlanded our human family; and 99 per cent of them came from homes where Hope had been built into their hearts. Home!—what a reality for human life lies in that word! And in a confused world-order such as we are experiencing again what gold, and silver, and precious stone our homes need to put into our children if we, and they, and there are not to be consumed in this and other confagurations. Every home must be a Builder of Hope in its members.
Then there is the Church. What a builder of hope she still is! The American Mercury may be justified in asking Mr. Channing Pollock to write an article on "Why I Don't Go to Church." Abstractly, society, from bottom to its top, could get along without the church. And what is "The Church" but to sum total of those who attend its services and support it? For our world to survive it must have more than the slogan of business—"A million users can't be wrong"; and that of government, "Twenty-seven million people can't be wrong" in giving mandates to those in power. If that is the principle by which our world hopes to live then the Cross and all the crosses and pillories must be wrong. In fact, if this philosophy of majority rule were carried into present Europe the smaller nations of majority rule would exist. They are hopeless. It is the Church (those who attend its services and support it to the best of their ability) which is again re-creating Hope in the masses. It is the RED CROSS—the symbol of Christ and His Church—which is bringing a Christian hand to the destitute of our war-torn world and helping people to rebuild their hope in God and in men. It is the Friends, a religious group, which is again joining the salvagers of human life to help men rebuild their hope.
Abraham believed in hope when there was no hope to believe in. And so did Sir Wilfred Grenfell and Albert Schweitzer, and so does every parent, and so does every minister, and so does every missionary, and so does every inventor, and so does every scientist who works from a hypothesis. Somewhere in the Holy Scriptures their kind are compared with others who were not hope-builders and the writer says that the world was not worthy of them. But how God has honored hope-builders through the ages! Blessed are the hope-builders: for they shall be sons of the Most High and Friends of Men!

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER
NEW YORK—Britain, with a war on her hands, still is making more progress than the United States at humanizing the King's English. If you happen to have been an October moving day victim, you may have had occasion to sign one of those leases running to 10,000 words of legal jargon which for all you knew might have committed you to buy a left-handed kangaroo—and wished that official transactions could be put in comprehensible down-to-earth language.
Well, England's doing it. Prime Minister Churchill told the Civil Service the other day to cut out "officialese"—terminology such as "Consideration should be given to the possibility of carry into effect."

He thereby put official sanction on the long unofficial campaign of A. P. Herbert, humorist-parliament member, who for years has been asking his countrymen sardonically what would have happened if Lord Nelson, instead of saying, "England expects every man to do his duty," had said: "England anticipates that with regard to the present emergency . . . etc., etc."
But the American trek toward plain talk is slow, although there are glimmerings of progress here and there.
A year or so ago a big corporation shocked the business world by putting out an annual financial report in language a man with $2.30 in his pocket could tie into rather than the usual Wall Street mumbo jumbo.
Several other corporations have followed suit, but some financiers

Liberty Bell Is Symbol Of American Freedom

THE first "made in America" bell, the historic old Liberty Bell which announced the birth of freedom, is pictured on the U.S. 2-cent Sesqui-centennial commemorative above, issued in 1926.
The bell has had a remarkable history. It was ordered from an English foundry in 1751 for the Pennsylvania State House. The bell cracked before it could be installed.
When return to England was delayed two Americans, Pass and Stow, offered to recast it. The tone of their first bell was not satisfactory, but a second casting produced the Liberty Bell, with its famous inscription: "Proclaim Liberty throughout all the land, to all the inhabitants thereof."
The bell announced the first public reading of the Declaration of Independence on July 8, 1776, not on July 4, as is common belief. During the Revolution, the bell was taken from its tower, hidden under a church floor, to prevent seizure by British.
The Liberty Bell cracked while being moved during the funeral of Chief Justice John Marshall, on July 8, 1835.

A Washington Daybook

By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON—Just what impels tourists to tour the way they do is a mystery that no authority that I have been able to find here wants to tackle. But that the ways of the tourist are strange is a certainty.
That much is proved by a survey of the National Park service on comparative travel for the 11 months ending September 1 and just released. I put the puzzle up to the personnel of the American Automobile Association, supposed to know all there is to know about touring, but they said they would have to pass the buck. They couldn't explain what goes on in a tourist's mind. If you want to try to make something of it, here are some facts and figures.
For example, the most popular tourist spot in America today is the Lincoln Memorial. For some time now, its popularity has been sneaking up and ahead of the Washington Monuments. This year, the Memorial to the rail-splitter President put the 555-foot marble obelisk in the shade. The park service found that 1,357,286 persons passed through the fluted colonnades of the Memorial in the 11-month period, while only 843,713 visited the Monument.
Visitors to the Monument were about the same as last year, but for some reason the number of those who went in to gaze at the Daniel Chester French statue of the Great Emancipator increased nearly 400,000.
Statue Of Liberty Loses
WHILE you are working on the ways of this, add the fact that in New York harbor, that mecca of tourists for generations, the Statue of Liberty attracted only 330,076 and this during World's Fair time, too. The Statue of Liberty did a bit of a nose dive in popularity, drawing about 40,000 fewer unofficial inspectors than a year ago.
And if you are not confused enough now, take into consideration that the park service keeps a check on the least popular was the house where Lincoln died, only about 13,000 persons visiting that spot in the 11 months.
Gettysburg Tops
OF THE military parks, battlefields and cemeteries, Gettysburg was tops, with more than half a million visitors, but the supposedly much lesser known Chickamauga-Chatanooga battle site was a respectable close second, with 416,774 visitors.
When anybody mentions national parks to me, I always think of Yellowstone and Yosemite. But they are only fourth and fifth on the list respectively with less than half a million visitors. Shenandoah had nearly 777,000; Great Smoky Mountains had 745,000; Rocky Mountain National park, 565,000. The Grand Canyon was well down the list. Only 328,307 persons stopped there.
Visiting all areas in the period checked by the park service were about a million more persons than last year, a fact attributed to the war, which not only has kept the travel abroad but has had some bearing on South American travel and travel to the Caribbean. The battle of the British with the Graf Spee caused a lull in South American travel and rumors of submarine activity and the presence of British and French warships in the Caribbean slowed things up there.
Mexican Travel Slips
THE AAA says travel to Mexico was booming for a time, but the threat of a revolution as a result of neither presidential candidate's willingness to concede he had lost apparently caused a big change in plans on this side of the border. Travel in that direction had come almost to a standstill at last report.
If you want a final puzzler, take this one: Why did 1,500 tourists choose August to visit Death Valley?

JACKET-OLYMPIC FRAY MAY SETTLE SEMI-PRO TITLE

McKeesport Loaded For Bear In Crucial Game Here Tomorrow

Warren fans will tomorrow see a football game which may eventually be the tilt for the semi-professional championship of western Pennsylvania, when the McKeesport Olympics, top team of the Pittsburgh district, clash with the undefeated Red Jackets, northwestern Pennsylvania's representative in the title picture.

The Olympics, defeated only by the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Pro League, come to Warren tomorrow loaded for bear. During the week they signed "Whitey" Fowle, former St. Rosalia Prep and Steeler back; Johnny Belle, ace terminal for the Preps and one of the best wingmen ever seen in this city; Elmer Markovskiy, ex-Pitt star, who played in the Trafford line here last Sunday, and Bill Hodder, 185-pound Appalachian Teachers back, who gained an All-American mention.

The Olympics will probably start Fowle in a halfback post, paired with Arnold Koepke, another triple-threatener, and ex-Waynesburg star, with Johnny "Five-Yard" Karcis, former Pitt, Pirate and New York Giant at fullback. Roy Elliott is expected to be the starting signal barker.

Belle will doubtless get the call for one end, paired with either Jim Kelly, 200-pounder, or Matt Wasba. Coach "Bullet Joe" McCune and Duquesne's Bill Critchfield are the usual starting tackles, with Billy Sikora and Al Jones at Guards and Jimmy Weir, captain of Waynesburg in 1939, at center.

Bob Main and Harry Wooster will start at the ends for the Red Jackets, with Johnny Rossman and Dugan Parasillite at tackles, Willard Zerbe and Artie Amann at guards and Frank Sirianni at center.

Warren "Lefty" Check will undoubtedly start at quarterback, with Frankie Martines and Artie McKeehan at the halves and Rosequist at fullback. Harold "Buster" Brown, who starred against Trafford and Millvale, will see considerable service at one of the wingbacks.

The Jackets will have at stake not only the western Pennsylvania title, but also their undefeated record.

The kickoff will be at 2:30 o'clock with the usual popular prices prevailing.

Between the halves, the crowd will be entertained by three young ladies who accompany the team and do specialty "jitterbug" numbers.

JOHNNIES TEAR INTO SHEFFIELD FOR 34-7 COUNT

Sheffield, Oct. 19.—Playing their second nocturnal tilt of the season, the Sheffield Wolverines suffered their fourth straight and most decisive defeat of the campaign when they were overpowered last night at Johnsonburg by the best Johnsonburg Hi team in years.

It was the sixth time for the undefeated Wolverines, who capitalized on the early game nervousness and fumbleitis of the Wolverines to register three touchdowns in the first period and a fourth one at the outset of the second quarter. Their fifth and final marker was notched in the last period.

Speedy and smart-running Captain Johnny Kroah, Rambler left halfback, abetted by effective blocking by his mates, scored three touchdowns and flipped a pass for another in leading his team to victory.

The lone Wolverine touchdown was registered late in the opening quarter, immediately after the Ramblers scored their third. The Orange and Black took Johnsonburg's kickoff on the 10 and on the first play Pochatko dropped back and flung a forward. John Sorvelli gathered it in on the 30 and sped the remaining 70 yards down the right sideline for the score.

First downs were 10 to 4.

Football and jitterbugs, yet! The McKeesport Olympics, not satisfied with putting on a grid show wherever they perform, also tote along a trio of gals who are garbed in the Olympics' colors and who keep the McKeesport cheering section pepped up throughout the game, as well as putting on a specialty jitterbug exhibition between the halves.

While schools and colleges are accustomed to having drills or dances as a part of the band program during the intermission, this is something new for semi-pro clubs. The McKeesport Boosters Association, which sponsors the grid outfit, fathered the idea and it has proved to be a popular innovation. We've heard of coaches who wanted hucmen the most damage.

It was the sixth time for the undefeated Wolverines, who capitalized on the early game nervousness and fumbleitis of the Wolverines to register three touchdowns in the first period and a fourth one at the outset of the second quarter. Their fifth and final marker was notched in the last period.

CONN GETS NOD Intersectional Tilts OVER AL M'COY Feature Today's Grid IN BOSTON FRAY Bills On All Fronts

Boston, Oct. 19 (AP)—Billy Conn, world's light heavyweight champion, drew a step nearer today to a bout with Joe Louis, the heavyweight titlist.

The Pittsburgh youth moved up the notch by scoring a decisive win last night over rugged Al McCoy, of Boston, who has proved a stumbling block to more than one other aspirant to high title honors.

Conn, undefeated since he started his campaign in the heavyweight ranks, scaled 172½ to McCoy's 181½, but was far stronger at the end of the 10-round non-title bout than his heavier foe.

He shook McCoy frequently with both hands in the ninth and tenth rounds, obviously striving for the knockout that never came.

A top-heavy favorite, Conn displayed a weakness in the early rounds in offsetting McCoy's left jab, but closed in and slugged in the fifth, a change that worked to his advantage.

Though McCoy had been holding him fairly even up to that point, the result from then on seldom was in doubt. McCoy attempted to stem the tide with a rally in the seventh, but Conn took everything he had and, gaining confidence with each passing round, won going away.

Conn hit a bit below the belt on occasion a tendency that drew shouts of "keep it up" from the crowd and three warnings from Referee G. Edward Bradley.

The gross gate for the show, which opened Boston's indoor season, was announced as $21,300, one of the largest here in recent years. The attendance was 15,523.

New York, Oct. 18.—Those birds with flaming pans walking around San Francisco are the ones who asked, "Who is that boy?" when Stanford hired Clark Shaughnessy.

Loyal up-state Syracuse rooters are willing to bet on the Orange against Cornell today—only catch is, they want more than 21 points.

It has just come out that Des Moines business men offered Billy Conn 20 grand to go out there and fight Lee Savold last summer, but no scap.

Jimmy Demaret and Lawson Little are billed for a 72-hole grudge match over Jimmy's course at Houston which Demaret can tour in 68, using only a hockey stick. He's a par 72, and he has posted 67-67-65 in his last four starts.

After Clemson had routed Wake Forest, Coach Frank Howard called the gang together.

"He blew up a big red balloon," "Here we are now," he said.

"He stuck a pin into the balloon," "Here we are, if South Carolina beats us."

YEARS AGO IN SPORT

October 19, 1920.—The Warren Independents are in great demand throughout the section by other semi-pro football eleven. The booking manager told a Times-Mirror representative that the only trouble he has is trying to find opposition tough enough for the Indies. (Ed. note: Did you say "20 years ago?")

October 19, 1930.—Despite the fact that the Dragons put up one of the best scraps they have this year, they dropped a 13-0 game to Oil City Saturday down on O'Ball's Flats. Warren lined up with Caldwell and Crossett at ends, Kopf and Graziano at tackles, Gilson and Greenlund at guards, Scallise at center, Creal at quarter, Gettings and Allen at the halves and Kelly at fullback. Coates, Bevevino and Barto were replacements.

The third week of the Lecturing Knights division found the Fritz and Newell teams dedicated for first place, with Wills and Maders one game behind, effecting a pretty tight race in the first division.

Last night the Maders took four from the Pontiacs, Newell and Wills split, the Keystone Printers took a clean sweep from Geracimos by forfeit, and the Fords knocked off Fritz's team to the tune of three points.

"Too" Milennus had 228 for high game, while Eddie Shield turned in a nice 641 for high total.

At the Conewango Club, Johnny Trevenen's team cooled off Chuck Young's combine by taking four points and assuring the event of another hot chase for the pennant. Youngs having taken four in their first match.

Harry Connors rolled 192 for high game for the evening with Captain Young firing 327 for high total.

In the K. of C. circuit, the Lions took four more and kept their slate clean at the expense of the Elisons who dropped to third.

The Bucks whitewashed the Tigers and moved into second place, six games away from the leaders.

Len Minnelli hit a 234 game for a new high single, but his 566 was shy of his own mark.

Debate Issue Comes Up Again In Baltimore

declaring that President Roosevelt favors some form of state socialism for the United States, Wendell L. Willkie set forth today on a weekend stump tour of Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Five short talks during the day will be followed by an evening address at Minneapolis where he will discuss farm problems. On Monday the Republican presidential nominee will continue rear platform speeches preparatory to a Milwaukee appearance that night.

He told a crowd last night which filled the state arsenal at Springfield, Ill., that the campaign issue is whether America should adopt a form of state socialism, state capitalism, or "centralized government dominating the complete economic life of the people."

The conference voted to participate in an oratorical contest for the Youth of the Presbytery church. VETERANS PLAN OPENING PARTY OF NEW SEASON

Members of the American Legion and Auxiliary of Chief Cornplanter Post are looking forward to the next dance which will be held at the Legion Home next Friday, October 25th. A buffet lunch will be served at the conclusion of the dance.

This will be the first party under the direction of Commander N. J. Wendelboe and his vice commanders, William J. Walker and John E. Meade. Junior Vice Commander Meade will be in charge of the social activities for the Legion the coming year and as this is the first party at which his committee will function, he has made plans for an unusually entertaining evening. Miller's Orchestra has been secured to play for the dance which will be held from 9 till midnight.

Members of the Legion and invited guests will find the Legion's Dugout now greatly enlarged with much more available space to accommodate the large crowds which seem to increase with each successive party. Fully 50% more space has been added to the canvased and new ceilings have been installed and a sparkling coat of paint gives the whole room the appearance of being completely re-decorated.

Members of the Post are also reminded of the next Legion meeting to be held Monday, October 28th. Final plans for the Armistice Day observance will be announced at this meeting and also the dates for the annual membership drive which will probably open around November 1st, under the direction of Senior Vice Commander William J. Walker.

These Are The People

Overflow crowd of Willkie enthusiasts pictured outside the Buffalo, N. Y. Memorial Stadium the other night

MAYBE you're for Willkie. Maybe you're for Roosevelt. But regardless YOU CAN, AS AN AMERICAN, BREATHE DEEP WITH PRIDE AT THE SPECTACLE PRESENTED IN THE SPIRITURE. For these are the People... the free People of the United States of America... standing with heads and banners held high... proclaiming, on the eve of another presidential election, THEIR OWN CHOICE of a leader... And their choice, in this instance, is a man opposed to their present leader. Imagine, if you can, a similar public outpouring of citizens in a Germany or an Italy, in opposition to a Hitler or a Mussolini!... But this is America, and there are her People, and this is the essence of government by the people.
